JUDGING (EXHIBIT HALL ENTRIES)

PLEASE READ

1. Judging will be on Monday, September 18, by competent judges. No exhibitors will be allowed to accompany judges while exhibits are being judged.
2. Each department will be under special charge of its Director and only items listed in the Davidson County Fair Premium Book will be allowed to be entered for competition.
3. No entry will receive a prize unless it merits a prize.
4. Products or exhibits, except in livestock department, that were exhibited at any previous Davidson County Fair will not be accepted.

County fairs use one of two or a combination of the two judging systems.
See category to determine which judging system will be used in each department.

American System - Exhibits in this system are compared against a standard of perfection, as well as against the other entries in the class. All exhibits in a particular class are looked at and ranked with only one selected for first place, second place, third place, etc. If there are no high-quality exhibits, at the judge's discretion, exhibits may be placed in the appropriate position, even if it is second or third place. Judging will be influenced by the quality, condition, defects and uniformity of the exhibit.

Danish System - In this system, all exhibitors receive a ribbon. All exhibits are grouped according to quality, and there may be multiple entries that get the same ranking and ribbon. Quality may vary from excellent to fair, and ribbon categories may be blue, red, white, yellow, and/or green. In this system of judging, exhibits are not in competition with or compared to each other.

Always remember that Judges are looking for the following:

- Quality – Color, marketability, maturity
- Condition – Freshness, cleanliness, presentation, appearance.
- Defects – Free From: damage, disease, other injury, insect damage etc.
- Uniformity – Size, shape, color, maturity (multiple item entries (2 or more) uniformity of size, shape and color are key to doing well)

In order to increase the educational value of agricultural exhibits this year the Fair Committee is awarding substantial premiums in the Farm Crops and Horticulture Department for the best Display on production. EXPLANATION: Display consists of one-half bushel of corn, oats, wheat or sweet potatoes together with information on how a successful crop was produced. Exhibits of this type will be judged on the basis of their education value, attractiveness of display, and the successful production of the crop. In case of hay three or more hanks from regular size bale must be used. Small grain exhibitors bring in one-half gallon glass jars to be exhibited.

HORTICULTURE RULES

Definitions:

Specimen - One stem or stalk with attached foliage and blooms.

Spray - group of florets on a single branched stalk

Stalk - stiff stem or axis of plant, may include branches

Stem - supporting plant structure to which buds, leaves, and flowers are attached.

- Classes in which there are sufficient entries may be subdivided according to type, cultivar, and/or color if the committee sees fit, and if budget for premiums is not exceeded by doing so.
- All horticulture entries MUST HAVE BEEN GROWN BY EXHIBITOR. Container-grown plants must have been in exhibitor's possession at least 90 days, except combination plantings must have been in exhibitor's possession at least 6 weeks (42 days).
- ONE ENTRY PER PERSON FOR EACH CLASS. Multiple entries are allowed ONLY in classes with an asterisk beside them (Class L-19*, for example). Each entry in these classes must be a different species. The fair reserves the right to withhold any premiums won in any class by an exhibitor breaking this rule.
- Exhibitors must furnish their own clear (colorless) glass bottles filled with water. The size of the container should be appropriate for the size of the specimen. Wedging is permitted in the neck of the container to steady the specimen and improve the pose. The committee reserves the right to refuse any entry not in the proper container and ready to enter.
- No cut specimen over 30 inches tall will be accepted.
- Cut specimens, except for L-160* and L-161*, must be outdoor grown.

DAVIDSON COUNTY AGRICULTURAL FAIR ASSOCIATION

DIVISION I - HORTICULTURE

All the flowers of tomorrow are in the seed of today.

Premiums for Roses and All Cut Specimens: Blue $2.50; Red $2.00; Yellow $1.50

Premiums for Container Grown Plants: Blue $5.00; Red $3.50; Yellow $2.00

Award of Merit (Sections A-D) $10.00; one Division Award of Horticultural Excellence $15.00

PREPARATION OF HORTICULTURE SPECIMENS

Cut stems in late afternoon or early morning with a sharp knife or clippers on a slant for greatest intake of moisture. Re-cut and place specimens in tepid tap water and place the vessel in a cool, dark place free of drafts. This is termed "conditioning" your specimens. It improves substance and holds freshness. Select only clean, clear bottles to display your specimens and transport them carefully to the flower show.

Botanical Names Type in the common name you know in your search engine. It will almost always give you the botanical name. It consists of two terms denoting Genus and species, in that order. If the plant is a hybrid, the cultivar name is added. If the plant occurs in nature it is a variety. When handwritten it should appear as Genus species 'Cultivar' or var. variety. (i.e. French Marigold 'Lemon Drop' would be Tagetes patula 'Lemon Drop') We will assist you with this at registration as needed.

Grooming of horticulture specimens is permitted. Remove damaged leaves. No wire, oil, spray or artificial color is permitted in horticulture classes. Evidence of spray, residue, dust, or insect damage must be carefully removed from specimen.

Container grown plants should be well groomed with no seedpods, no wilted flowers, no damaged or unclean foliage, no broken stems and no "training" propp visible. The container should be clean and in scale with the size of the plant.

Accessory foliage is never used with specimens. Only foliage naturally grown on specimen and still attached is permitted.

HELPFUL HINTS: Use only clear bottles so the stems will be visible. Wash them so the water will be clear. Use small-necked bottles to help steady the specimen. If the neck is too large to hold the specimen upright, you may wedge a small wad of paper towel, plastic wrap or styrofoam in the neck beside the specimen—This is called 'Wedging'. Foliage is not permitted below water level (exception: Gladiolus).

TIPS FOR FLOWER DESIGNING FROM VILLAGE HOME & GARDEN CLUB

1. Select a container to harmonize in texture and color with the plant material.
2. Select flowers and leaves in different stages of development so as to depict the cycle of growth (bud, partly opened flower, fully opened flower)
3. Avoid crowding the container.
4. Mechanics should be concealed.
5. Have interesting voids and spaces, unequally distributed to add interest and variety.
6. Good flower holders are a ‘must’. They should be well anchored with floral clay, paraffin, etc.
7. Use only accessories which are related in color, texture or spirit.
8. Avoid poor proportions-either too tall or too short plant material in relation to the container.

DESIGN

The organization of the Elements of Design (line, form, color, texture, pattern, size, space, light) according to the Principles of Design (balance, rhythm, proportion, scale, contrast, dominance) artistically combined.

CONFORMANCE TO SCHEDULE

The designer’s adherence to all schedule requirements (size/frame of reference, design style or type, staging, plant material or other component requirements). See HB, Chapter 10, for titles and characteristics of Design Types.

PRINCIPLES OF DESIGN

1. BALANCE is visual stability, either symmetrical or asymmetrical.
 - a. Symmetrical (“formal”) balance is approximate visual weight on both sides of an imaginary vertical axis in which like components and overall side patterns create near mirror-images of each other. Static in expression compared to asymmetrical.
 - b. Asymmetrical balance has greater appeal. It is approximate equal visual weight on both sides of a vertical axis despite the fact that overall patterns and/or materials differ from side to side, and do not create a mirror-image of each other.
The following appear heavier: denser and bolder forms, larger sizes, darker colors, and coarser textures. Their opposites appear lighter in weight. Forms have more visual weight than closed spaces, closed spaces more than open spaces. Elements higher up in the design and further away from the axis appear heavier than those nearer the center.
2. RHYTHM is the visual path, actual or implied, through a design. It may be attained by the use of repetition, gradation, and line direction. Rhythm makes a design appear to be dynamic rather than static.
3. PROPORTION is the relationship or amounts of one part of the design to another and to the whole; the ration/amount of design to frame of reference, and the relative amounts of color, value, intensity, texture, and form; the amount of plant material to container; occupied space to unoccupied space; rough texture to smooth; light areas to dark.
4. SCALE deals with size relationships of components to each other in a design. It is only when contrast in size to too great that components are out of scale; size of one object to another; size of object as compared to container; size of accessory to container.
5. CONTRAST is the placing of opposite or unlike elements together in such a way as to emphasize differences. Contrast of equals divides attention and too much contrast of too many elements results in confusion. Use of differences within each Design Element, straight line vs. curved line, cool color vs. warm color, rough texture vs. smooth texture, etc.
6. DOMINANCE implies subordination. For an element to be more effective, another element must be less effective. Subordinate interest can be provided by similar but weaker or by contrasting material. I.e. the color yellow is stronger than the color lavender. Yellow is dominant, lavender is subordinate and weaker, a heavy branch has a stronger line and is more dominant than a frail branch. To be dominant is to be featured.

SELECTION OF COMPONENTS

Components refer to all the physical materials used in a Design: plant material (fresh and/or dried), non-plant materials (wire, tubing, Plexiglas, etc.), container/s, bases, accessories, featured objects, special staging (backgrounds, frames, etc.) and mechanics.

ORGANIZATION OF COMPONENTS

The effective organization of chosen components in a volume of space.

EXPRESSION

The interpretation of class title or theme expressed through specific Design Element/s (line, form, color, texture, pattern, size, space, light) or component/s.

DISTINCTION

Marked superiority and exceptional qualities in all respects: use of mechanics, workmanship, and craftsmanship. Faults noted in other categories of the Scale of Points negatively affect Distinction.
